To Promote Co-operation Among Farmers.

The committee of fifteen ordered appointed by the twenty-ninth annual state fruit growers convention met at the Palace hotel, San Francisco on Friday, Mar. 25th at 11 o'clock, to devise and put into effect a plan or plans to promote co-operation amongst producers of all classes of cured fruit throughout the Pacific coast, have unanimously adopted the following resolutions as a basis for action, says the Mercury:

"Resolved, That it is the sense of this committee that the fruit growers of the state wherever practicable organize local associations for the preparation of fruit for market, and that these several associations then connect themselves with some selling agency to make sale of their crop at the best market rate, at such times and for such prices as the agency acting in conjunction with associate organizations may deem best. In case no such selling agency is available or satisfactory we recommend that they proceed to establish one by delegate representatives from each such local association.

"Also, That we further recommend that all selling agencies composed of organized growers unite by delegate membership, to form a central selling and purchasing agency by which the highest advantages in buying and selling may be secured, without, however, relinquishing any brand, trade marks or other advantage peculiar to each, but eliminating to the greatest possible extent injurious competition with each other in the market and in every practical manner, extending the consumption of California cured fruits.

"Also, That we disclaim any purpose to antagonize any interest by such recommendations, being fully aware that a large percentage of the business will remain to be done by established organizations. But we believe that when a considerable portion of the growers become thus organized it will be possible to find a common basis of agreement with such interests by which market values may be sustained and regulated better than at present.

"Also, That we further recommend that such centralized agency at the earliest practicable moment develop a plan for effiently advertising California cured fruits and placing them with the consumers at prices which shall provide for a fair average profit to the grower, wholesaler and retailer.

"We further recommend the formation of a committee to procure and make available statistics in relation to the fruit products of the Pacific coast, and competing countries."

The following resolution was unanimously passed:

"Resolved, That a committee of three, with H. P. Stabler as chairman, be appointed to outline and put into operation a plan for increasing the consumption of the cured fruit of the state."

The chairman appointed on the committee with Mr. Stabler: Arthur R. Briggs and A. L. McCray.

The members of the committee of fifteen present were:

A. R. Sprague of Sacramento, chairman; F. H. Babb of San Jose; S. G. Rodeck, of Campbell; Arthur R. Briggs of San Francisco; H. P. Stabler of Yuba City; A. D. Bishop of Orange; W. P. Webber of Santa Paula; Thomas Jacob of Tulare; A. L. McCray of Fresno, secretary; B. F. Walton of Yuba City, who was elected to fill a vacancy on the committee.

The committee spent two days in earnest deliberations and while at first wide differences of opinion were expressed they came to unanimous agreement in support of the plan above outlined.

A leap year party was given at I. O. O. F. hall last Friday night. About 45 couples were present and the evening was passed with music, conversation, dancing and other diversions. The decorations were of an artistic nature, white and red being the color-scheme. Long ribbons of red were festooned from the ceiling in graceful designs. The tables in the banquet room were strewn with Cherokee roses and laid with covers of wood adorned with a burnt design. It is understood that the young ladies did the inviting and paid the bills.

Dr. and Mrs. Hartman are back from Capitola, where they spent the past week with Dr. and Mrs. Spencer.

J. F. Duncan made a business trip to San Francisco Saturday.

One Irrigated Acre.

The Sacramento Valley of California is a land of big farms. Private estates run all the way from one thousand to one hundred thousand acres. It was once profitable to farm vast areas in grain. When this speculation began to fail, in consequence of the expansion of the industry in foreign lands, which had learned to use American labor-saving machinery, the tendency towards big farms was not checked but rather accelerated, since many holdings were consolidated in the process of mortgage foreclosures.

Although the Sacramento Valley is blessed with most abundant water supplies, irrigation is not generally employed. There is little rainfall from May to November, yet grain and deciduous fruits are grown without artificial moisture. But the big farms are not prosperous. They are largely cultivated by tenants and are strangely devoid of features which make the true California farm one of the most delightful home spots in the world. The men on the land sell all the produce and buy nearly all they consume. And so they pay tribute to others "going and coming."

I have been visiting a farm in Sacramento Valley which consists of one single acre of irrigated land and, which makes a better home and larger net income for its owner than many of his neighbors enjoy on places of thousands of acres each. The little farm is at Orland, in Glen County, and is the property of a man named Samuel Cleeks, who has grown old and gray while tilling it for the past thirty years.

Mr. Cleeks tells me that he has no difficulty whatever in making a comfortable living from this one acre of irrigated lands. Not only so, but he is able to save an average of four hundred dollars a year besides. He has money to loan, as well as fruit, vegetables, and poultry products to sell to those who are getting poorer every year in carrying on big farms without irrigation. I was so curious to know how he could get such good results from so small an area that I asked him to give me a list of what the place contained. Here it is:

Barn and corral space, 75x75 feet; rabbit hutch, 25x25 feet; house and porches, 30x30 feet; two windmill towers, 16x6 feet each; garden, 46x94 feet; blackberries, 16x90 feet; strawberries, 65x90 feet; citrus nursery, 90x98 feet, in which there are 2300 trees budded; one row of dewberries, 100 feet long; four apricot trees; three peach trees; six fig trees; ten locust trees; thirty assorted roses; twenty assorted geraniums twelve lemon trees, bearing, which are seven years old; lime tree nine years old, and bearing, from which were sold last year 160 dozen limes, eight bearing orange trees; four breadfruit trees, one patch of bamboo; three calla lilies; four prune trees; three blue gum trees; six cypress trees; four grapevines; one English ivy; two honeysuckles; one seed bed; one sage bed; two tomato vines; thirteen stands of bees; 2 oak trees; 5 pomegranate trees.

The story of this prosperous one-acre farm, set in the midst of the great wheat ranches of the Sacramento Valley, has a certain bearing on the great popular movement aiming at the repeal of existing laws under which the nation's lands are being recklessly squandered.

In the face of such examples of the productive capacity of irrigated land under intense cultivation, why should we continue to give away three hundred and twenty acres to a single individual, or twice as much to a man and his wife? This is what we are doing under the Desert Land Law. And every time we do it we shut the door of hope in the face of ten or twenty families who might get homes on the public domain if the unit of entry were cut down to a reasonable figure—say, thirty or sixty acres. Save the lands for the real home-builder.—WILLIAM E. SMYTHE in The Western Empire.

A Tour of Europe.

Prof. J. A. Foshay, Supt. of Schools, Los Angeles, is organizing a party to leave the Pacific coast on June 11th for a tour of Europe including England, Scotland, Holland, the Rhine, Germany, Italy, Switzerland and France, with a six-days stop-over at St. Louis to see the Exposition. This will be a fine opportunity, especially for school teachers in the long vacation, to visit such historic spots as Stratford-on-Avon, Edinburgh, The Hague, Cologne, Frankfurt, Venice, Geneva and Paris, whilst many more of equal interest, will be on the itinerary of the fortunate members of Prof. Foshay's party. Write Prof. Foshay for particulars.

WE have received through the courtesy of our Congressman Wynn, Senate Document No. 204 on "Roads and Road Building." It is the report of the "Hearing before the Committee on Agriculture and Forestry, United States Senate, Tuesday, January 26, 1904, on the bill introduced by Senator Latimer (s.3477), to establish in the Department of Agriculture a bureau to be known as the Bureau of Public Highways, and to provide for National aid in the improvement of the public roads; and the Brownlow bill, so called, introduced by Senator Gallinger (s.2539), to create in the Department of Agriculture a bureau to be known as the Bureau of Public Roads, and to provide for a system of National, State, and local co-operation in the permanent improvement of the public highways."

It is a very interesting document, considering the great interest being taken in the Brownlow bill, covering as it does all phases of the question. After reading the 100 pages of argument presented in favor of good roads, one is at a loss to understand why there should be any opposition to national aid for good roads. Certainly after reading the strong resolutions from National and State Granges, Boards of Supervisors, and a hundred or more other prominent societies or individuals in favor of the plan, it seems reasonable to believe that this is one of the advance moves of our national government. There is every reason why national aid should be extended to the building of better roads. No one objects to the government spending millions of dollars upon our harbors and rivers, etc., and why should not the farmer receive something for improving the roads over which he has to transport his produce to market? It is certainly to be hoped that this bill may become a law which will be the means of appropriating $24,000,000 from the National treasury for road building, or $8,000,000 a year for three years. This amount is apportioned to each State according to population, and each State is to duplicate a like amount of money out of its treasury for the same purpose. The amount California would get would be $430,000 and with a like amount from our State every three years, covering a period of nine years. This amount, added to what is already being done, would help materially in giving our State better roads.

THERE is no town in the county that has the future that Campbell has if proper efforts are put forth to make it what it should be. It is absolutely necessary that we keep pace with the spirit of the times and to do this we must take advantage of every opportunity that will aid in placing us in the front rank of county towns. There is no disputing the fact that we have the choice fruit section, an ideal location, and it rests with our own people to place Campbell where she belongs. We must be connected with San Jose by electric roads, we must incorporate our town, we must have civic pride, we must maintain well kept streets, which includes clean sidewalks, planting of shade trees, etc. Will you aid the Board of Trade in bringing these desired results about?

At Palo Alto Monday's election proved to be a victory for the labor unions. They massed their votes and elected about every officer.

CAMPBELL

(THE ORCHARD CITY)

Lies 50 miles south of San Francisco on the Santa Cruz division of the Southern Pacific Railway, 5 miles from San Jose, in the famous Santa Clara Valley, the garden spot of the State.

SCENERY SUPERB

With the Santa Cruz Mountains to the west and south and the Coast Range on the east, a majestic amphitheatre is formed, the beauty of which can not be excelled anywhere. Campbell has an altitude of 195 feet. The cool breezes from San Francisco bay at the north insure an even and comfortable temperature throughout the summer months, while the winters are warm and pleasant. Flowers bloom out of doors the year around.

EDUCATIONAL ADVANTAGES

Campbell has a population of about 600. It maintains a (third class) post-office which distributes mail to 3,000 patrons, covering over 30 square miles of orchard homes. There are two churches—Methodist and Congregational—a first class High School and Graded School, and within a few miles are two Universities, two Colleges, a State Normal School and several Business Colleges and private schools.

The Stanford University with its marvelous architecture is only 20 miles away.

NO SALOONS

Campbell has a complete water system of its own. It has electric lights and power for mechanical purposes, which is distributed throughout the orchard district. A telephone exchange serves over 40,000 people. A prohibitory clause in all deeds to property within the town limits, prevents the saloon from being established.

FINE ROADS AND RESORTS

The Santa Clara Valley boasts of the finest roads to be found in the State. It has over 350 miles of sprinkled rural highways. In attractions for tourists the Santa Clara Valley can not be surpassed. Thirty-two miles eastward over a magnificent mountain road is the famous Lick Observatory on Mt. Hamilton, 4,444 feet above sea level. There are numerous mountain retreats within two hours' drive for those who love the camp and sparkling brook. The sea beach to the southward 27 miles by rail or carriage drive, and through the most beautiful mountain scenery in the world.

A trip to the Big Trees, twenty feet in diameter and two thousand years old, will furnish a delightful day's outing.

MINERAL SPRINGS

The hot springs of Alum Rock Canyon and Congress Mineral Springs are within two hours' drive, giving a panoramic view of the entire valley.

The Almaden Quicksilver Mines, the largest in the world are within easy access by rail or team.

The largest seed farms in the world only 10 miles distant.

FRUIT CENTER

Campbell's mammoth fruit dryer and packing house is the largest in the world. It has a capacity of over 10,000,000 lbs.

The Campbell Orchard District is noted for the quality of its fruits. For delicacy of flavor and beauty and perfection of color, its cherries, apricots, peaches, apples, plums, grapes and pears, have no equal in their fresh state, and command the highest market price. As cured or dried fruit the Campbell prune, apricot, and peach is shipped to every civilized country on the globe. Nearly one-half of all the prunes grown on the continent are from Campbell orchards. One and a half million cans of fresh fruits are packed in Campbell every season.

The demand for intelligent labor is increasing every year. Families desiring profitable employment in orchards, packing houses and canneries find this an ideal home.

LAND VALUES MODERATE

Land values are very moderate—bare land brings from $100 to $300 per acre and when set to trees sells from $200 to $1,000 per acre, according to location and age of orchard. Ten to fifteen per cent is an average net income, while many places yield a much higher rate.

In short a Campbell home is one surrounded with HEALTH, WEALTH AND PLEASURE.

Early California Oranges.

In the orange season of 1903-04 carloads of ripe naval oranges from Placer county were delivered by the writer in eastern markets during Thanksgiving week. The explanation of this early ripening arises from the warm belt of lands running from north to south along the foothills of Sierra Nevada mountains where the average mean temperature, 60 degrees Fahrenheit, is about the same as in the orange grove region of the south, but warmer during June, July and August. The nights are warmer than those at groves near the sea coast, which receive the ocean breeze laden with fog, which cause more or less smut.—J. Parker Whitney in Sunset Magazine for April.

California at St. Louis.

The agricultural building at St. Louis will be the largest building, under one roof, ever constructed for exhibition purposes. This immense structure will cover nineteen and three-quarters acres, and at its main entrance will be the collective exhibit of California. The permission to have a collective exhibit in the agricultural building is a special concession to the Golden state, the granting of which is in itself strong testimony to the eminence of California in the eyes of the world. No other state in the union will have a collective exhibit at the exposition; and because of this fact, the exhibit of California will have an added advantage over those of her sister states.—Elwyn Hoffman in Sunset Magazine for April.

Modesto is planning a great celebration on April 22nd and 23rd, the event being the celebration of great Modesto-Turlock Irrigation Canal, supposed to be the greatest irrigation system in America. Modesto and the San Joaquin have the spirit of irrigation and we may expect great results in the future from that fertile valley. In our advertising columns appears an announcement of the Jubilee, which they will celebrate with great enthusiasm.

FEMALE WEAKNESS

542 1-2 Congress St.
PORTLAND, MAINE, Oct. 17, 1902.
I consider Wine of Cardui superior to any doctor's medicine I ever used and I know whereof I speak. I suffered for nine months with suppressed menstruation which completely prostrated me. Pains would shoot through my back and sides and I would have blinding headaches. My limbs would swell up and I would feel so weak I could not stand up. I naturally felt discouraged for I seemed to be beyond the help of physicians, but Wine of Cardui came as a God-send to me. I felt a change for the better within a week. After nineteen days treatment I menstruated without suffering the agonies I usually did and soon became regular and without pain. Wine of Cardui is simply wonderful and I wish that all suffering women knew of its good qualities.
